KeyMACRO is a free mobile phone SMS macro recorder that can be used to save a SMS message as a text file. You can then view and edit the file in an editor on your PC. It records any string of SMS text and saves it as a text file to your computer. If you are sending SMS from your phone to another person, a larger amount of text can be recorded and saved in a txt file. Record message without ending the ongoing conversation KeyMACRO includes all of the features you would expect in a text macro recorder: automatic recording, an onscreen display of the recorded text, saving to a text file and playback. Macros allow you to record and send messages to specific recipients, automatically. In fact, most of the time, you can simply open the macro editor, type your text and press record to record your SMS text. Macros can be used to record all of your conversations with anyone, you can set up many macros with different replies to each recipient. Import and edit macros Once a macro is recorded, you can open it in the editor to edit or even delete the text. You can copy and paste the text into an email message and send it to anyone. Conference Calls Macros are also useful for conference calls. With many of the Call Recorder apps on the market, you can record a conversation or even hold a conference with multiple phones at the same time. In addition, you can import your macros into the corresponding software. KeyMACRO has a few features that make it easier than other text macro programs to record, save and edit. It is a simple tool to use. In addition, it is free to use. It also comes with a 14 day trial, so you can use it to record and save your SMS messages for free. Use it to record the data from your mobile phone, especially your SMS conversations and call records. You can edit the recorded text file as needed. For example, you may use this to: Monitor your bank accounts Send or receive a message Transfer money Keep a list of phone numbers Schedule meeting times Taxation forms One thing that will catch your attention when you use the online tax calculator is the opportunity to request to have an extension to file your tax returns. To accomplish this, you have to be enrolled in E-File. Another item that is useful is that the online tax calculator can be used to obtain free shipping. With these two features 2edc1e01e8

Create to-do lists using an accessible and straightforward layout Veetid Desktop To-do List is one of the apps that aid you to efficiently plan and organize daily or upcoming tasks and manage complete and incomplete assignments. In order for the tool to run is required to have .NET Framework installed on the hard drive. It's wrapped in an approachable and intuitive interface with most used commands stacked in a basic toolbar, followed by a task list, which features a simple tree structure to best organize additional tasks under the main one. Back up and restore the database and add tree-structured projects To get started all you need to do is insert tasks based on your own priority. The first one is represented as a parent node under which you can enter as many children nodes as necessary. The box next to each item, marks it as completed. If you worked with similar apps and you have a database stored on the computer, you can easily import it from VDX file. Right-clicking on a record brings up a few editing options, such as edit, delete, copy and paste a specific task, mark it as finished, as well as set the due date, enable a reminder at a particular day and time, and choose the text and background color. You can save individual records in TXT and HTML file formats. The tool lets you change the layout switching between list, date, complete and incomplete view. Plus, you have the option to back up and restore the database in case errors are encountered, run the app at startup, and run it minimized.
